WORDS OF THANKS FROM OUR HEROES

"This was one of the most awesome experiences of my life. To be able to return home after a long ten months in Afghanistan and see the looks on their faces was amazing. We were able to share some much needed family time, as I am a single mom and they were in the care of my mother during my absence. I am at a loss for words to cover my gratitude to those who assisted in making this wish/dream come true. I truly do not know if we would have been able to have the same experience during this vacation if it were not for those donors who came to our aid/assistance. Thank you from the bottom of my heart."

HOW TO SCORE FREE VETERAN TICKETS

When it comes to perks associated with military life, we all know that the benefits pretty much end when you leave active duty - even though the struggles of recovering from military service might literally last a lifetime. So many of the discounts offered are for active duty or Guard and Reserve only. Even the National Parks pass and the Disney deals don't apply to veterans.... Read More

VET TIX & THE NOVEMBER ISSUE OF THE COSTCO CONNECTION

When Mike Focareto went to the 2008 Superbowl in Phoenix, the seat next to him stayed empty during the entire football game. This didn't sit well with Focareto, a Costco member in Arizona.

THIS HOLIDAY SEASON

As the holiday season approaches - giving an event tickets to service members is an expression of appreciation and acknowledgement. It's an enduring symbol that we honor the service of our troops now and long after they have completed their tour of duty.
