Our Hero's Wishes

Words cannot express the gratitude I have for the donors that provided my wife and I tickets to see the Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon and Hamilton: An American Musical on Broadway in New York City. I could not believe my wish was granted and I would get to see this award winning performance on Broadway. To my great surprise, the tickets I received were in the orchestra section. I never imagined I would be so close to the action! It is difficult to put into words what it was like witnessing this performance, it blew us away. The story is expertly written and the music is captivating. Without a doubt, this performance was the highlight of my trip to New York and I will never forget this experience. I feel like I have been given the gift of a piece of history with the tickets I received and the performance I viewed. Thank you so very much for your generosity and all of the dedication that went in to supporting my wish!!

Sincerely,
Giovanni Jimenez

Vet Tix and Got Your 6 Announce Partnership to Support Successful Veteran Reintegration

Partnership will allow Got Your 6 to distribute free tickets to veterans, active duty, and family members.

According to Got Your 6 research, 80 percent of civilians see veterans as "broken heroes" - a combination that tends to produce the result of charity rather than opportunity for continued leadership. To combat that stereotype, Got Your 6 and its entertainment and nonprofit partners are shifting public perceptions so that veterans' leadership and skills are recognized and utilized at home to strengthen communities....

Veteran Tickets Foundation Sending Two Lucky Veterans to Final Four NCAA Basketball Championship Game

Veteran Tickets Foundation (Vet Tix), a national nonprofit dedicated to helping veterans re-acclimate to civilian life after service through community experiences, is sending Eric Smith, former United States Navy and Chuck Martin, a former airman in the United States Air Force, to the Final Four of the 2017 NCAA Basketball championship game. The four tickets were donated by Arizona utility company Salt River Project (SRP).

158% Increase in Cactus League Ticket Donations to Vet Tix bodes well for Upcoming Baseball Season.

More than 2.7 million free tickets have been handed out with only a small delivery fee through Vet Tix's Tickets for Troops program. The Cactus League in Arizona increased donations by 158% and for the first time all the teams/parks are supporting Vet Tix veterans and current serving military.

"The last two baseball season tickets donations have averaged approximately 80,000 from spring training, minor leagues, Major League Baseball and season ticket holders. For the first time, every Cactus League team has donated to Vet Tix, except one. But that team donates to Luke Air force base, which is fine too. It's our hope that is a positive sign of things to come to fill more seats. It's a win-win-win for everyone," stated CMO Al Maag.

He continues, "Like most of our VetTixers, I too, am a huge baseball fan. Our servicemen and women sign on to serve their country, often sacrificing the opportunity to take part in beloved traditions like going to a baseball game with their families. We hope that more baseball donations will be shared with our military families during this season and fill any empty seats".

"The Cubs are proud to be supporting Vet Tix because we know once the tickets are offered they are used by appreciative men and women and their families enjoying a fun day at Sloan Park. Their testimonials always remind us of the doing good for those who have done so much good serving our country," said Justin Piper; General Manager of Spring Training Business Operations for the Chicago Cubs.
